

I believe that the State of Wisconsin has provided an excellent service to their constituents with the "No Call List". It is extremely invasive in my opinion to have to deal with telemarketers. I have, for years, adopted a policy to NEVER EVER buy anything from a telemarketer after being burned by half truths and "just tell them what they want to hear" practices from these people. If I feel I need to obtain a new product or service, I am smart enough to do the research on my own. I do not need someone calling and interrupting me at home.
